GENERAL INFORMATION

The University of Chicago Law School was established in 1902. Its aim is to give a thorough legal training to students whose education and maturity have fitted them to pursue serious professional study. The method of instruction employed—the study and discussion of cases—is designed to give an effective knowledge of legal principles and to develop the power of independent legal reasoning. The course of study offered, requiring three academic years for completion, is not local in its scope, but constitutes a preparation for the practice of law in any English-speaking jurisdiction. By taking advantage of the quarter system students may complete the course in two and one-fourth calendar years.

The Summer Quarter, 1931, opens June 22 and closes August 28, and is divided into two terms, the first of which ends July 24. Work may be taken for either term separately, subject to the rules about credit for courses that continue through both terms. See the statement under “Courses Offered,” below. The courses are sub-
