

Among Law School Alumni in Texas

E. Karl McGinnis, JD'23, Professor Emeritus, Business Law, The University of Texas, Austin, Texas. Mr. McGinnis has served as a member of the Austin City Plan Commission and is currently Vice President and a director of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Austin.

Edward C. Fritz, '40, of Fritz and Vinson, Dallas. Mr. Fritz has been practicing law in Dallas since 1940, with special interest in problems of damage inflicted by harassment, and in usury law. He is active in, and a director of, several Dallas civic organizations.

J. Newton Rayzor, JD'21, of Houston, a senior member of the firm of Royston, Rayzor and Cook. Mr. Rayzor, and his firm, are specialists in admiralty and maritime work, with offices in both Houston and Galveston. He is a Trustee of Baylor University and a Life Trustee of Rice Institute.

John H. Freeman, '12, of Fulbright, Crooker, Freeman, Bates and Jaworski, Houston. Mr. Freeman is a director of, and general counsel of, Anderson, Clayton and Company, a director of the First City National Bank, of Houston, President of the M. D. Anderson Foundation and active in numerous other charitable and professional groups. He has received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Baylor University.

E. Ernest Goldstein, '43, Professor of Law at the University of Texas. Mr. Goldstein has served as General Counsel to the Subcommittee on Study of Monopoly Power of the House Judiciary Committee. He is the author of a casebook on Patent, Trade-Mark and Copyright Law. In addition to that field, he also teaches international law and anti-trust. He has been chairman of the International Law Committee of the Association of American Law Schools.

Dudley K. Woodward, Jr., JD'07, of Dallas. Mr. Woodward was in private practice in Austin and later in Dallas, until 1944, at which time he began to devote all of his time to his work as Chairman of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas. Shortly after the conclusion of his service on that Board in 1955, Mr. Woodward became Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Committee of Seventy-Five, a group set up by the Regents to study the past development of the University of Texas and to chart its future progress.

Ramsey Clark, JD'51, of Dallas, a member of the firm of Clark, Reed, and Clark.

R. Guy Carter, JD'30, is senior partner of Carter, Gallagher, Roberts, Jones and Magee, in Dallas.