XI. The Law School Residences

Linn House and Mathews House are the Law School Men’s Residences, located in the Burton-Judson Courts and connected with the Law School Buildings. There are common-room and lounge facilities as well as living quarters for law students. The lounges in Burton-Judson Courts also provide a meeting place for law students and a center for extracurricular activities of the School.

Arrangements may be made by law students not rooming in the Houses to take regularly lunch or dinner, or both, in the Burton-Judson Courts dining halls. Unless special arrangements are made, the assignment of rooms is for a period of three academic quarters. Applications for residence in Linn House and Mathews House or inquiries concerning other housing accommodations should be addressed to the Student Housing Office, The University of Chicago, 5801 Ellis Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60637.

XII. Student Activities and Honors

The University of Chicago Law Review, founded in 1933, is published by the School under the management of a Board of Editors composed of students. Students ranking highest in scholarship upon completion of their first year are invited to become competitors for election to the staff of the Review. From this group the editorial staff and the Board of Editors are chosen. The Editor-in-Chief for 1964–65 is Milton R. Schroeder. Managing Editors are James M. Cowley, Henry F. Field, Peter P. Karasz, and Thomas D. Morgan. The Associate Editors are Frank Cicero, Jr., Phillip E. Johnson, Grady J. Norris, Kenneth P. Norwick, and Michael Schneiderman.

The Moot Court Committee conducts the Hinton Competition, a two-year round robin moot court program open to all students after their first year who wish to advance their technique in the art of brief writing and oral argument. Prizes are awarded to winners of the competition; the team that represents the Law School in national competition is selected from among the most successful competitors in the second year. The Chairman of the Committee for 1964–65 is Dennis R. Baldwin. Other Committee members are D. Rodney Bluhm, Sherman D. Fogel, Patrick H. Hardin, Kenneth L. Pursley, Thomas G. West, and Charles R. Work. The following awards for achievement were made in the 1963–64 competition: William S. Hanley and David L. Paulsen, competition winners; in the second-year competition, Kenneth L. Pursley and Charles R. Work, best brief, and Patrick H. Hardin, best oral argument. The Karl N. Llewellyn Memorial Cup, which is presented each year to the highest scoring team in the second-year competition, was awarded to Kenneth L. Pursley and Charles R. Work. The 1964–
65 national moot court team is composed of Patrick H. Hardin, Kenneth L. Pursley, and Thomas G. West.

The Edwin F. Mandel Legal Aid Clinic, made possible through a gift from Mr. Edwin F. Mandel, was established in 1957 to provide legal services for indigent persons and for the training of Law School students in the handling of cases under supervision. Henry J. Kaganiec is Director of the Edwin F. Mandel Legal Aid Clinic. The officers for 1964–65 are John L. Weinberg, President; William F. Steigman, 1st Vice President; Dale V. Springer, 2d Vice President; Edward E. Vaill, Secretary-Treasurer; and Daniel B. Greenberg.

The University of Chicago Law School Student Association is composed of the entire student body and is affiliated with the American Law Student Association, a national organization sponsored by the American Bar Association. The Student Association sponsors various legal and social functions throughout the year. The 1963–64 officers were Alan R. Orschel, President; Daniel P. Kearney, Vice President; Harry A. Crandall, Treasurer; and Elizabeth Ellenbogen, Secretary. The President of the Senior Class for 1964–65 and Chairman of the Council of the Association is Daniel P. Kearney.

The Karl Llewellyn Inn of Phi Delta Phi, a national legal fraternity, maintains a program of social and professional activities for its student membership.

The Chicago Chapter of the Order of the Coif is an honor society founded to encourage and to advance the ethical standards of the legal profession. Its members are elected each spring from the 10 per cent of the graduating class who rank highest in scholarship. In 1963–64 the elected members were Margaret F. Ewing, Larry K. Harvey, James R. Horton, Jr., George B. Javaras, Edmund W. Kitch, Lillian E. Kraemer, Warren W. Lehman, Gerald M. Penner, Michael H. Shapiro, Robert J. Vollen, William A. Wineberg, Jr., and Michael G. Wolfson.

The Joseph Henry Beale Prize, named in honor of the first Dean of the Law School, is awarded to the first-year student whose work in the first-year tutorial program is judged by the Faculty to be most worthy of special recognition. The prize for 1963–64 was awarded to Walter J. Robinson III.

The Institute for International Order offers two prizes for winning essays on subjects designated annually.

The Lawyers Co-operative Publishing Company and the Bancroft-Whitney Company, joint publishers of American Jurisprudence, annually make available the relevant separately bound subjects from American Jurisprudence as an award to the highest ranking students in various course areas.

The Lawyers Title Award, sponsored by the Lawyers Title Insurance Corporation, Richmond, Virginia, is awarded annually to a student for excellence in work in the field of real estate. The award was given in 1963–64 to George B. Javaras.

The Edwin F. Mandel Award is made annually to that member of the graduating class who, during his Law School career, has contributed the most to the Legal Aid program, both in the quality of the work done and the conscientious exercise of legal aid responsibilities. The award for 1963–64 was made to Fredrick Henzi.

The Nathan Burkan Memorial Competition Prizes, sponsored by the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, are available annually to students whose papers in the field of copyright law are deemed by the faculty to be worthy of the prizes. The award for 1963–64 was made to Kenneth P. Norwick.

The Jerome N. Frank Prize for distinguished Law Review writing is awarded annually for the outstanding comment produced by a third-year member of The University of Chicago Law Review. The award for 1963–64 was made to George B. Javaras.
The Robert H. Jackson Prize is awarded annually to the student who submits the best paper in connection with the work of the Seminar on Constitutional Law. Michael H. Shapiro was the winner in 1963–64.

The "Wall Street Journal" Award is given annually to a student for excellence in work in the field of corporation law. The award for 1963–64 was given to Phillip E. Johnson.

The "United States Law Week" Award is given annually to the graduating student who, in the judgment of the faculty, has made the most satisfactory scholastic progress in his final year at the Law School. The award for 1963–64 was given to Michael R. Turoff.

XIII. Placement

The Law School Placement Office, in collaboration with the Law Alumni Association, the University's general placement office, and other organizations, secures information about opportunities in law firms, corporations, and government agencies throughout the country and furnishes information about Law School students and graduates. The Placement Office also assists in arrangements for teaching positions and law clerkships with judges; through the Comparative Law Center, efforts are made to place properly qualified students in research centers and other institutions abroad, and to help foreign students find opportunities for study and research in American law.

The services of the Placement Office are available to students upon completion of military service following graduation and to alumni of the School who wish to change their associations. The Office assists, as well, in finding positions for students who wish to work for law firms during the summer between their second and third years.

All third-year students have a personal interview with Dean Ratcliffe, who is Director of Placement; other members of the Faculty are also available for consultation and advice.

XIV. The Conference and Lecture Program

The Law School recognizes its responsibility to contribute to the development of the law through research, commentary, and public discussion. In these undertakings the co-operation of the Bench and Bar have been invaluable. The School recognizes also the importance of appropriate activities outside the formal curriculum in the education of law students. Special student seminars with members of the profession, public lectures, and public conferences on major problems of the law are an integral part of the program of the School.

The annual lecture to the entering class at the opening of the academic year was delivered in 1963 by Morris B. Abram, Esq., of the New York Bar. His topic was: "The Challenge of the Courtroom: Reflections on the Adversary Process."

In the Autumn Quarter a conference on "Religious Freedom and Public Affairs" was sponsored in cooperation with the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Speakers included Jefferson B. Fordham, Dean and Professor of Law, the University of Pennsylvania Law School; Kenneth Culp Davis, John P. Wilson Professor of Law, the University of Chicago; Harry W. Jones, Cardozo Professor of Jurisprudence at Columbia University and Visiting Professor at the University of Chicago Law School; Rabbi Arthur Gilbert, of the National Conference of Christians and Jews; and the Honorable Abraham A. Ribicoff, J.D. '33, U.S. Senator from Connecticut, who addressed the only public session of the Conference. Commenting on the basic papers were William J. Butler, Esq., of the New York Bar; Paul G. Kauper, Professor of Law, University of Michigan Law School; John deJ. Pemberton, Esq., Executive Director of the American
