Law School have the degree of Bachelor of Arts or its equivalent may be allowed to complete the work of the Law School in three years.

Each applicant is required to submit a transcript of his college record and letters of recommendation which present in detail his scholastic and character qualifications. He will also be required to have a personal interview with a representative of the Law School. Applicants living in the Chicago area will have the interview at the Law School. Other arrangements will be made for applicants not living in the Chicago area. The Law School reserves the right to reject any application even though the applicant satisfies the formal requirements stated above.

DEGREES AND REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is awarded to students who are not holders of the degree of Bachelor of Arts or an equivalent degree, who have been in residence for two academic years and have demonstrated by their standing in the annual examinations of the first two years and by their individual investigations and reports a mastery of the fields included in the first two years of the program of the School.

THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF LAW (J.D.)

The degree of Doctor of Law is awarded to students who have completed the requirements for the Bachelor's degree in the Law School, have continued in residence for two additional academic years, and have demonstrated, by their standing in the annual examinations of the third and fourth years and by their individual investigations and reports, a mastery of the required fields and of two of the special fields of the third and fourth years of the program of the School.

A student who enters with an A.B. degree or its equivalent may qualify for the J.D. degree after three years of residence.

Candidates for the J.D. degree who have met the requirements with distinction will be awarded the degree cum laude. A student whose work is not satisfactory will be dropped from the School.

THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF JURISPRUDENCE (J.S.D.)

Candidacy for the degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence (J.S.D.) is open to students who are the holders of a Bachelor's degree and of a degree from some law school of high standing, and who show a marked ability for legal scholarship. All admissions to candidacy for this degree are by special vote of the Faculty. Applications should be made not later than March 1.
The J.S.D. degree is conferred upon the satisfaction of the following conditions:
1. At least three quarters of residence at this School.
2. The satisfactory completion at this Law School of such studies as the Faculty may prescribe.
3. The submission of a printed dissertation and the acceptance of such dissertation as a creditable contribution to legal science.

TEMPORARY CONTINUATION OF THE OLD PLAN

The Old Plan will be continued temporarily for the benefit of students who are now in the Law School either as preprofessional or as professional students and for students who enter the School in the Autumn Quarter, 1937, with three or more years of college work. For students who have by the end of the Summer Quarter, 1937, completed at least one year of professional work, the Old Plan of second- and third-year law courses and course examinations will be continued for two more academic years. Upon the successful completion of this work they will receive the appropriate degree of J.D. or LL.B. For courses for the year 1937–38 see pages 9–12. Old-Plan students who begin their professional work in the Autumn Quarter, 1937, will be allowed to take those parts of the new first-year curriculum that deal with legal material. They will take comprehensive examinations based upon this legal material. This work will be supplemented by other law courses based upon the Old Plan. Course examinations will be given in this Old-Plan material. The first-year professional curriculum for such students will consist of the following courses: New Plan: Legal Methods and Materials, Procedure, Torts, Contract and Quasi-Contract; Old Plan: Criminal Law and Real Property. For detailed statement of these courses see pages 7, 9. For a tabular view of the arrangement of these courses see page 21. Upon the successful completion of this year of work they will receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Their work in the second and third years of their professional study will be composed partly of law material in the new curriculum and partly, and so far as is necessary to give them the three full years of professional training, of law courses continued upon the Old Plan for two more academic years. Upon the successful completion of this work they will receive the degree of Doctor of Law (J.D.).

Only second- and third-year Old-Plan work will be provided in the Summer Quarter, 1937; only third-year Old-Plan work will be provided in the Summer Quarter, 1938. After that time formal instruction in the Summer Quarter will probably not be given.
