

The Law School Entertains

The University of Chicago Law School was host at a cocktail party on Thursday, June 11, to all the delegates attending the annual meeting of the Illinois State Bar Association. More than two hundred lawyers from all over the state attended the party at the Hotel Orlando. The occasion marked the conclusion of the Fiftieth Anniversary celebration of the School. Representing The Law School at the annual meeting were Dean Edward H. Levi, Bernard Meltzer, Sheldon Tefft, Karl Llewellyn, Soia Mentschikoff, and James M. Ratcliffe.

²² Bernard D. Meltzer, "Required Records, the McCarran Act, and the Privilege against Self-incrimination," 18 University of Chicago Law Review 728 (1951).

While in Chicago for the Fiftieth Anniversary Convocation, Joseph W. Bingham '04, who addressed the Convocation Banquet, met many of the present generation of law students. He is shown here with three June graduates (left to right): Jean Allard, Ruth Miner, and George Beall.

At the Conference on "Freedom and the Law" Alexander Meiklejohn and his son, University of Chicago College Associate Professor Donald Meiklejohn, greet students, while onlooker Professor Malcolm P. Sharp seems pleased.

The Faculty of The University of Chicago Law School on Convocation Day. Absent from the photograph are Philip Kurland, Malcolm Sharp, Kenneth G. Sears, Max Rheinstein, who is lecturing in Germany, and Allison Dunham, who is teaching law this quarter at the University of New Zealand.