

XIII. STUDENT ACTIVITIES AND HONORS

The University of Chicago Law Review, founded in 1933, is published by the School under the management of a Board of Editors composed of students. Members of the second-year classes who rank highest in scholarship are invited to become competitors for election to the staff of the Review. From this group the Board of Editors chooses the editorial staff. The Editor-in-Chief for 1950-51 was Abner J. Mikva. The Managing Editors were Howard Adler, Jr., Arnold M. Chutkow, Edward De Grazia, Herbert C. Ephraim, and Maynard J. Jaffe. The Associate Editors were Paul J. Allison, John Borst, Lawrence M. Friedman, Charles A. Lippitz, Alan S. Maremont, Charles F. Russ, Jr., and David M. Sloan.

The Chicago Chapter of the Order of the Coif is an honor society founded to encourage scholarship and to advance the ethical standards of the legal profession. Its members are elected each spring from the 10 per cent of the graduating class who rank highest in scholarship. In 1951 the elected members were Paul J. Allison, George Anastaplo, John Borst, Arnold Chutkow, Herbert Ephraim, Miles Jaffe, Robert Kharasch, Lawrence Lee, Abner Mikva, and Sheldon Stein.

The University of Chicago Law School Student Association sponsors various legal and social student functions throughout the year. All students in the School are members; officers are elected from each of the three classes. The officers for 1950-51 were: President, Robert N. Kharasch; Vice-President-Treasurer, Jack Whorton; Secretary, Freda Gould; Chairmen of Committees, Paul Allison, Michael Daniels, and Albert Jones.
