Alumni Class Notes

It has been over two years since the last edition of the "Alumni Class Notes." The number of responses to our recent request for news of our graduates was overwhelming. In editing those responses, we have tried to include the most timely and the most unusual information.

We especially wish to thank those graduates who wrote to tell us that all remains well in their practice or retirement; only the lack of space in this issue of The Law School Record prevented us from acknowledging each card and letter. In succeeding issues, we intend to include many of those responses we omitted in this issue. We hope that graduates will continue to write us with further news of themselves and their classmates.

1916
William P. Butler writes to say, "I, finally, after 61 years, retired from the practice of law, leaving my one remaining client to my son David . . . having outlived all my other clients."

1918
John McConnell Williams is handling lots of litigation "both in court and out" in Topeka, Kansas.

1919
Grover C. Wilson has practiced law for more than 60 years. He presently acts as chief counsel of the Savings and Loan Association which he helped organize in 1960.

1920
Alan F. Wherritt continues to practice "law and economy" in Liberty, Missouri.

1922
Hamer Jamieson writes to say he invented a revolutionary system of playing and teaching golf—"fore-hand golf," which makes all other systems obsolete. George F. Killinger had his poetry published in 1977. Harold Barefoot Sanders, Sr., reports he is galloping toward his 82nd birthday in Dallas, Texas.

1923
Benjamin R. Williams of Tucson, has retired and now devotes his time to dancing, both disco and ballroom, and the American Legion.

Fred H. Bartlit, Sr., continues to practice law in Chicago, as he has for 56 years.

Jerome Hall received an honorary L.L.D. from Tübingen University, West Germany, for contributions to both criminal law jurisprudence and comparative law.

1924
Margaret Perkins Camp has retired from the active practice of law but retains her connection with Camp, Williams and Richardson, New Britain, Connecticut.

Lowell Wadmon, senior partner in White and Case, far from being retired, continues his activities in many charitable and professional organizations including the Metropolitan Opera Association (Honorary Life Director) and the Parker School of Foreign and Comparative Law (Trustee).

1925
Gerald E. Walsh married Valerie Walker Hoffman, a classmate in the class of 1912 at McKinley High School in Chicago, on April 19, 1979.

Earl D. Reese, Palo Alto, California, has been retired for 15 years and last year celebrated his 50th wedding anniversary.
Lyndon M. Hancock is chairman of the board of directors of The First National Bank of Harrisburg, the largest and oldest bank in Saline County, Illinois. He also finds time for his hobby—saddle horses.

Lucy Lasila Tasber is Professor Emeritus of United States history at Illinois State University in Normal, Illinois.

Paul E. Basye practices law and is a Professor at Hastings College of Law in San Francisco, California.

Ralph Halperin, an attorney with the Estate Tax Division of the IRS in Chicago received the Milton Gordon Award of the Chicago Chapter of the Federal Bar Association as outstanding federal lawyer of 1978.

Rhea L. Bremwerasser has retired to Fort Lauderdale and is now doing Red Cross and hospital volunteer work.

Andrew C. Hamilton reports he and his wife continue to enjoy filming their travels and showing the films to their friends. Hamilton commented that their friends, “strangely enough continue to be friends.”

Jerome F. Kutak has retired as Chairman and General Counsel of Guarantee Reserve Life Insurance Company of Indiana and is now a “country lawyer” in Munster, Indiana.

Harry H. Dunn is in semiretirement from the firm of Martinelli, Carey, Hunter and Dunn in Hutchinson, Kansas.

Owen M. Johnson, of Belvidere, Illinois, continues to actively practice law and participate in the Rotary Club and Foundation.

Both Lester Platkin and George E. Leonard, Jr., were named senior counselors by the Illinois State Bar.

Ben I. Greenbaum is in semiretirement in Winnetka, Illinois.

Catherine W. Ballard reports she is doing fine—at 75.

Fred H. Maredel is “still showing slides of our invitational visit to the People’s Republic of China in 1976.”

Judge Benjamin Landis retired from the Superior Court in Los Angeles. He still sits on assignment throughout California and conducts arbitration matters on behalf of the Superior Court.

Stuart B. Bradley continues to practice law primarily in the areas of admiralty and maritime law.

Albert H. Allen is actively practicing with Allen, Fasman and Janger in Beverly Hills California. He finds time to race his 44-foot sloop and travel extensively.

Lester F. Beck has a new career as realtor associate selling real estate in central Florida.

Virgil Livingston is happy and busy in retirement returning the kindnesses of his neighbors.

William McDowell Frederick was described as the elder statesman of public law in Peoria in a recent article in the Peoria Journal Star.

LeRoy W. Dahlberg is the senior partner at Dahlberg, Mallender and Gawne in Detroit.

Elvin E. Overton is entering his second year as a member of the Metropolitan Planning Commission of Knoxville, Tennessee, after retiring from 46 years of teaching law.

Arthur M. Frutkin is in the process of retiring from his law practice and moving permanently to Florida.

Leonard Fuchs is a member of the National Steering Committee of the Gray Panthers and a newscaster for radio station WZRD in Chicago.

Joseph J. Waskow retired as Probate Commissioner of Lake Superior Court and is now in private probate and tax practice.

Norman H. Nachman has been appointed by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger to the Advisory Committee on Bankruptcy rules.

William H. Thomas of Omaha has retired.

Now that Frederick Sass, Jr., has retired from Fried, Frank, Harris, Shriver and Kampelman in Washington, D.C., he hopes to bring his golf handicap down close to one figure.

Paul M. Cadra, of Huntington Beach, California, former administrative law judge, has retired.

David C. Bogart, senior partner in Bogart, Ehrmann and Halpern in Los Angeles, also finds time for many hobbies including tennis, photography, and travel.

George L. Hecker retired from the firm of Hecker and Kenealy in 1978 and is now in solo practice and is serving as a member of the Los Angeles County Manpower Advisory Council. He received the Prime Minister’s Medal from the State of Israel for his work in connection with that country.
Kenneth C. Prince, senior partner in Prince, Schoenberg, Fisher and Newman, Ltd., is also director of the Chicago Bar Foundation, Director of IICLE, and a director of the American Judicature Society.
Stanley M. Schesewel has been senior golf champion of his club for the past three years.

J. Phillip Dunn of Sapphire, North Carolina, reports he is fishing, golfing, gardening, cutting wood, sightseeing, seeing doctors, and practicing a limited amount of law.
Roland C. Matties, vice-president and treasurer emeritus of Wittenberg University is now acting as a consultant to colleges and hospitals for their deferred giving program.

Charles C. Donovan of Chicago Heights received the Distinguished Service Citation from Beloit College in October 1979.

George L. Herbolzheimer continues as senior partner in Herbolzheimer, Lannon, Henson and Duncan P.C. in LaSalle, Illinois.

Paul E. Treusch recently joined the faculty of Southwestern University School of Law to help organize an LLM program in Federal Taxation. His treatise, Tax Exempts Charitable Organizations (with N.A. Sugarman) was published this year.

Searing W. East recently married Patricia Venus Brown.

Donald R. Kerr reports from Tucson that he is retired and loving it.

Marvin L. Simon retired in 1977 from Ekco Housewares Company and two months later took a position at University of Chicago Hospitals. He reports no current plans for a second retirement.

Erle J. Zoll, Jr., retired from Seaboard Coast Line Railroad.

William B. Graham established a Professional Chair in Pharmaceutical Chemistry at the Weizmann Institute of Science.

Bruce A. King and Earl G. Kung have both retired.

Harry W. Mahn is chairman this year of the library committee of Chicago Bar Association.

Leslie H. Wald is still engaged in criminal and civil tax litigation in Denver.

Judge Ivan Lee Holt, Jr., was appointed to the Judges Advisory Committee to the Standing Committee on Ethics and Professional Responsibility of the ABA.

Robert W. Macdonald is still practicing labor law but spending most of his time teaching at Lake Forest College.

John Barden is a semiretired writing and editorial consultant to Case Western Reserve University Medical School and University Hospitals.

John Ecklon was awarded the Ohio Bar Medal by the Ohio State Bar Association for "unusually meritorious service."

Haseltine Byrd Taylor has retired after teaching in the School of Social Welfare, University of California, Berkeley, for nearly 30 years.

John N. Hazard, Professor Emeritus of Law at Columbia University, has returned to teaching at Columbia after a term as Fulbright Visiting Professor at the Catholic University of Louvain (Belgium), where he was awarded an honorary doctorate.

Daniel C. Smith informs us he is upgrading the Law Department at FMC by increasing the Chicago graduates from two to five plus one Bigelow Fellow.

Bertram G. Warshaw is publisher of the Trial Diplomacy Journal and president of Stainless Piping Materials, Inc., of Chicago.

William Tucker Dean not only teaches law at Cornell, but at the behest of local voters in Ithaca, New York, also sits in Village Court where he conducts jury trials.

Thelma Brook Simon was appointed chairman of the Administrative Law Committee of the Chicago Bar Association for the 1979-80 term.

Karl R. Janitzky is Associate General Counsel and Manager of the Law Department at Deere and Company, Moline, Illinois.

John R. Van de Water practices law in San Pedro, California.

The highlight of Fred Messerschmidt's year was attending the graduation of his third son from the United States Naval Academy.

Robert H. Harlan retired from the United States Foreign Service last year and is now devoting long hours to renovating his house in Freeport, Illinois, which, he writes, started life as a cheese factory before the Civil War. In addition, he joined the board of the Highland Community College Foundation.
John H. Martin recently retired as Chief Counsel of Lockheed Corporation and is presently engaged in private practice. Sydney Titelbaum is currently a professor of biology at Fromm Institute for Lifelong Learning, University of San Francisco. Donald H. Wallingford recently assumed the position of Assistant Treasurer of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. Dudley A. Zinke reports he is an active tennis player and has trekked to Mount Everest, Nepal, and Mount Ausengate, Peru, recently. John W. Broad reports his firm, Broad, Khaurie and Schulz in San Francisco, has two other University of Chicago Law School partners: William A. Wineberg, Jr., ('64) and Fred B. Weil ('67).

E. Ernest Goldstein, of Paris, taught at Salzburg this summer, lectured in Madrid in October, and will lecture on U.S. and European merger legislation at Geneva in February.

Richard M. Stout recently opened a second office, this one in Augusta, Missouri. In his spare time he raises and rides horses.

Raymond G. Feldman recently expanded his partnership. It is now Feldman, Hall, Franden, Reed & Woodard. He trekked with his wife, Nancy ('46), in the Himalayas.

Raymond G. Feldman recently expanded his partnership. It is now Feldman, Hall, Franden, Reed & Woodard. He trekked with his wife, Nancy ('46), in the Himalayas.

Nancy G. Feldman is teaching management and behavioral sciences at Langston University Urban Center. The Honorable Robert E. Hodnette, Jr., is a Circuit Judge of the 13th Judicial Circuit, Alabama.

Donald A. Petrie is back in the investment banking business with Lazard Freres & Company after a year as treasurer of the Democratic National Committee (1972) and five years on "a honeymoon."
Edward F. Barnicle, Jr., continues to be engaged in the defense of U.S. v. AT&T which, he worries, will last a lifetime.

Charles L. Stewart, Vice-President, Secretary, and General Counsel for Hart Schaffner & Marx was elected Vice-President of the Chicago regional group of the American Society of Corporate Secretaries.

1948

James H. Evans, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Union Pacific Corporation, is serving on the governing boards of many charities, including New York Hospital, Rockefeller Brothers Fund, New York Botanical Garden, and the University of Chicago.

Lawrence W. Rabb spent this summer traveling with his wife throughout France and Spain.

James N. Lesparre has left commercial banking after 28 years to become associated with Bentley, Ducanto, Silvestri & Doss, Ltd.

The Honorable Kenneth E. Wilson is a Justice for the First District of the Appellate Court in Illinois.

Richard C. Reed participated in a People to People Tour (Europe and Russia) with American College of Probate Counsel to study probate law.

Harold P. Green retired in June as Professor of Law at George Washington University to resume full-time practice as a partner in Fried, Frank, Harris, Shriver and Kam pelman. He recently completed three years as Chairman of the ABA Special Committee on Energy Law and a year as Chairman of DOE Environmental Advisory Committee.

Robert L. Weiss is a member of the Advisory Committee of New York University Tax Institute.

1949

James J. McClure, Jr., of Gardner, Carton & Douglas finds time to act as President of the Village of Oak Park, Illinois.

Bernard N. Marcantel retired as District Attorney in Jennings, Louisiana, to open a law office in partnership with his son, David.

Frank D. Kenny continues his practice of law with Winston and Strawn, and celebrated his 35th wedding anniversary to Virginia Banning Kenny (Ph.B. '45).

1950

Henry L. Stern, of Culver City, California, was a member of the committee which drafted the new California General Corporation Law.

Charles D. Kelso, Professor of Law at Indiana University, is a visiting Professor of Law at McGeorge School of Law this year.

Naomi C. Campbell, head of the Family Support Division, Department of Corporation Counsel, Honolulu, was elected as delegate to the Hawaii State Constitutional Convention.

Richard L. Mandel was elected Vice-Chairperson of the Illinois Commission on Children to which he was reappointed by the legislature.

Richard H. Prins was elected President of American Civil Liberties Union-Illinois Division.

Arthur H. Berstein, of the Kaiser Foundation Hospitals, Oakland, California, was elected President-Elect of the American Society of Hospital Attorneys.

Sanford J. Green gave up his practice in Chicago and moved to Arizona where he is associated with the firm of Sang and Whitmer, Chtd.

William R. Brandt, of Bloomington, Illinois, was appointed a Lecturer in Law for the fall semester at the University of Illinois College of Law to teach trial practice.

1951

Paul J. Allison is the senior partner in the law firm of Randall and Danskin in Spokane, Washington.

Al Palfi, Assistant Vice-President at Chicago Title & Trust Company, reports he will be happy to send the “Estate Analyst” to any classmate not currently receiving it.

Elliot S. Epstein is living in Washington, D.C., representing immigrant farm workers in major litigation, and loving both his work and D.C.

Walter F. Hoffman, of Wayne, New Jersey, is National Chairman of the Campaign for United Nations Reform and Chairman of the Arms Control and Disarmament Committee of the ABA.

Mima R. Buck, of Syracuse, has her own practice as well as serving as counsel to the Onondaga County Legislature.

C. Harker Rhodes, Jr., was re-elected President of the Chicago Bar Foundation, Director of the National Center for Automated Information Retrieval, and President of the Illinois Bar Automated Research.

1952

Harris A. Gilbert, of Nashville, was selected by the Judicial Nominating Committee as a nominee for U.S. District Judge.

David V. Kahn was elected President of the American Jewish Congress, Council of Greater Chicago.

Jay E. Leibham has moved from Seattle to Davenport, Washington, and joined the firm of Underwood, Campbell, Brock & Ceretti.

A. Bruce Schimberg of Sidley & Austin, Chicago, was appointed Chairman of UCC Article 9 Subcommittee of the ABA.

Lawrence W. Ross, Jr., will be teaching at the Université d’Avignon, Avignon, France, this autumn.

1953

Irving M. Mebler has published a textbook entitled Effective Legal Communications.

1954

A. N. Yiannopoulos is now the W. R. Irby Professor of Law at Tulane University Law School.

Renato Beghe, of Carter, Ledyard & Milburn, New York, is currently a member of the Committee on Lectures & Continuing Education of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York.

Louis J. Cohn was a speaker and moderator at the ABA annual meeting in Dallas for the General Practice Section.

Robert A. Kelso writes, “My son is in his second year of law school and if he graduates and if he practices law and if he does so in New Albany, Indiana, he will be the sixth generation of father-son teams to practice law in New Albany starting in 1850.”

1955

Dean Roger C. Cramton of the Cornell Law School served as chairman of the ABA’s task force on “Lawyer Competency: The Role of the Law Schools.” A published report of the committee’s work is available from the ABA.

This fall, James L. Blawie, University of Santa Clara Professor of Law, is Acting Assistant Division Counsel, United States Army Corps of Engineers, South Pacific Division.

Eugene Butler wrote Keys to Mushroom Geneva, a nonfiction, nonlegal publication.

1956

The Honorable Gerald F. Giles, Judge of Rye Municipal Court, is also Chairman of the Continuing Education Committee, New Hampshire Judges Association.

O. James Werner’s book, Manual for Prison Law Libraries, was selected for display at the White House Conference on Library and Information Services held this fall.

After serving on the Maryland House of Delegates for 13 years on a part-time basis, Charles A. Docter is now a full-time bankruptcy lawyer.

1957

Jaro Mayda of the University of Puerto Rico has written Francois Geny & Modern Jurisprudence which was published last year.

David S. Helbert, M.D., was elected 1979 President of the Medical Staff of Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan, Illinois.

Herbert P. Feibleman, of Mobile, Alabama, is President of the International Parents Organization of the Alexander Graham Bell Association for the Deaf.

Harold Y. Shibatake writes from Honolulu to advise us he was appointed Judge of the 7th Division.

Robert N. Navratil, of Bird, Navratil and Bird, Maryville, Tennessee, was re-elected councilman of the city of Maryville.

1958

Robert D. Carswell was appointed Senior Crown Counsel for Northern Ireland.

James C. Goodale, is now Vice-Chairman and General Counsel of The New York Times.

David M. Truitt, of Truitt, Brown & Truitt, Chicago, is Chairman of the Board of Friends of the Chicago Public Library, Citizens Schools Committee, The Depot, and the Blue Gargoyle Youth Center.

Aldus S. Mitchell received the William R. Ming, Jr., award from the Cook County Bar Association.

Ron Tonidandel was named by Tennis Magazine as the number one senior tennis player in Ohio.

In 1978, Oral O. Miller, of Washington, D.C., was elected President of the American Council of the Blind.

Curt Ford’s book, How to Establish an Estate Analysis Practice, is now in its third printing.

James E. Beaver, Professor of Law at the University of Puget Sound, reports he was an unsuccessful Republican candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives but managed to raise the percentage of voters voting Republican from 25% to 40%.

1959

L. Hugh Kemp was inducted into the American College of Trial Lawyers at the ABA meeting in Dallas.

Professor Dr. Hans G. Leser has completed his Deanship at the University of Barburg and is a Visiting Professor this fall at Louisiana State University Law Center.

Frank D. Mayer, Jr., was elected Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Center.
C. David Peebles’ article, “Microcomputers—the Useful New Toy” was published in the September 1979 issue of Res Gestae, the journal of the Indiana State Bar Association.

Joseph L. Sax was awarded the Elizabeth Haub Prize by the Université Libre de Bruxelles for his work in environmental law.

1960

John W. Castle was appointed, by Illinois Governor Thompson, Director of the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

Luther A. Hartshorn was appointed Vice-President-General Counsel in international operations for A-T-O Inc., in May.

The Honorable Joseph H. H. Kaplan was recently elected to a 15-year term as a judge on the Supreme Bench of Baltimore.

Norman G. Kurland is seeking the Republican nomination for President as one of four candidates of the bipartisan Ownership Campaign.

Jan M. Schlesinger recently completed a term as President of the Burlington County New Jersey Bar Association.

1961

J. Donald Annett was recently appointed Director, Federal Government Affairs for Texaco.

Roberta Evans is working part-time at Fohrman, Lurie, Sklar & Cottle, Ltd., while she raises her family.

Nancy Gossage McDermid was appointed Dean of the School of Humanities of San Francisco State University.

Roger E. Reynolds has authored The Ordinals of Christ from their Origins to the Twelfth Century.

Harry G. Wilkinson claims his position as Deputy Director of U.S.A.I.D. Mission to Nicaragua has been anything but dull the past two years.

1962

Martin F. Bloom has given up his legal practice to open a real estate sales and investments office in La Jolla, California.

John C. Brooks was elected Commissioner of Labor for the State of North Carolina.

Martin N. Burke is presently President of the Minnesota Defense Lawyers Association.

Harry D. Leinemeyer, of Joliet, has been reelected to the Illinois State Legislature for a fourth term.

Calliope Nomikou Spinellis wrote a “Crime in Greece,” a chapter in the International Handbook of Contemporary Developmentism Criminology to be published shortly.

Robert Starr was coauthor of Doing Business in the United States, which was recently published in London.

Charles F. Vihon is currently acting as Special Counsel to the Committee on the Judiciary, United States House of Representatives.
Miriam D. Balanoff was elected to the Illinois General Assembly for 1979-80.
David P. Bancroft, of Sideman, Bancroft and Sutton, is also on the faculty of the San Francisco Bar Association Trial Clinic and Hastings Law School College of Advocacy.
Robert R. Gibson is President of the Nebraska County Attorneys’ Association.
William Shlensky, Director of Administration and Management of a residential treatment center for emotionally disturbed children, is still very much involved in his extensive sports memorabilia collection.
Charles R. Staley, of Wilson and McIlvaine, notes that as a member of the Evanston District 65 School Board, 1979 was his most challenging year. The Board closed four schools and cut its $20,000,000 budget by 10%.

1964

Albert F. Hofeld, senior partner in Albert F. Hofeld, Ltd., is currently Secretary of the Illinois State Bar Association and Third Vice-President of the Illinois Trial Lawyers Association.
L. Jorn Dakin has joined the Office of General Counsel, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, as an attorney in the Electric Rate Section.
Ira Fistell does two daily radio broadcasts over KABC in Los Angeles and writes he is enjoying life without legal practice.
Donald H. Risk is Chairman of the Continuing Legal Education Society of British Columbia.
William Sharp and David Herbst recently formed the firm of Porter, Sharp, Herbst and Krovets, Ltd.

1965

Gail Pollack Fels, of Fels & Fels, Coral Gables, Florida, is Chairman of the Dade County Alumni Committee for the College and was elected to the University of Chicago Alumni Cabinet.
Janice Griffith was appointed Associate Professor at the University of Bridgeport School of Law.
David B. Midgley has formed the firm, Caine and Midgley, Inc., providing financial consulting services to state and local governmental agencies in connection with the issuance of tax exempt bonds.

Peter J. Mone, Baker and McKenzie, is the author of an article on the organization of litigation practice in a large metropolitan law firm published in the summer issue of Litigation Magazine.
In May 1979, Thomas A. Phemister was appointed Director, Bureau of Explosives, by the Association of American Railroads.
Lloyd E. Shfskey was recently retained as Executive Director and General Counsel of the League of Auto Racing Professionals. He continues to serve as President of the Sports Lawyers Association.
A. Richard Taft, Assistant Vice-President, Trust Marketing at La Salle National Bank, Chicago, is busy renovating the gray stone house he purchased in historic Logan Square.

1966

Stephen L. Babcock, recently appointed Executive Director of the Administrative Conference of the United States, was married October, 1979.
Charles C. Bingaman was elected Chairman of the Board of Trustees of City Day School of Springfield, Illinois, a private school for grades K-9.
Mary Lee Leaky has formed a partnership with her husband, Andrew, and moved into a renovated 60-year-old schoolhouse in Athens, Illinois.
Werner Y.F. Ning has entered practice in Taipei, Taiwan, specializing in services to the business community.

1967

William L. Achenbach and Michael Stein resigned their partnerships at Stein, Roe and Farnham to open a Chicago office as principals of Brownson, Rehmus and Foxworth, Inc., providing personal financial counsel and asset management services for high net worth individuals.
Geoffrey A. Brown was designated a certified specialist in criminal law by the California Board of Legal Specialization of the State Bar of California.
In Indianapolis, Frank M. Cook’s child, Micah David, was born July 20, 1979.
Bob Dugan has completed a guest lectureship at University of Freiburg Law School (West Germany) under the Fulbright-Hays program, as well as a visiting position at Boston College Law School, and has returned to teaching at the University of South Dakota Law School.
John Elson, Professor of Law at Northwestern University, also a member of the Northwestern Clinic softball team that has twice lost to the Mandel Clinic, threatens to lead his team to victory over Mandel next summer.

Edward H. Flitton, Reber and Flitton, Colorado Springs, has completed three marathons in the past year including the Pikes Peak Marathon.

John T. Gaubatz, Associate Dean of University of Miami School of Law, says ten years of involvement in Moot Court has resulted in The Moot Court Book, published in October by Bobbs-Merrill.

Charles P. Gordon was Distinguished Visiting Professor of Public Administration at Lewis and Clark College and Portland State during the winter of 1979. As of July, Thomas A. Gottschalk made the Washington office of Kirkland and Ellis his principal office.

After spending three years with a large law firm and seven years teaching in a law school, David Minge has returned to his “roots” and is living on a farmstead in a Norwegian area of rural Minnesota as well as practicing law in the county seat of Montevideo.

Rutherford H. Platt is on sabbatical from University of Colorado and is currently serving as lead consultant on flood plain management to President Carter’s Committee on Water Policy.

John Henry Schlegel reports, “The State University of New York has recently shown that its bureaucracy can bungle even the simplest task and thus has unaccountably made me a tenured professor of law.”

1968

Martha Field has moved to Boston where she is a professor at Harvard Law School teaching federal courts and Constitutional law.

Philip W. Getts, of Dayton, Herman, Graham and Getts in Minneapolis, made his second hole-in-one. Both were accomplished on the same course, same hole, with the same club, and both witnessed by Byron Starns (J.D. ’69)

Antonio M. Laliberte became a partner in the international certified public accounting firm of Arthur Young and Company.

Ann Louise, Associate Professor at John Marshall Law School, won First Honorable Mention in the Lincoln Essay Contest sponsored by the Illinois State Bar Association.

In addition to teaching anthropology at Princeton University, Lawrence Rosen now teaches family law at Columbia Law School. Meaning and Order in Moroccan Society, which he coauthored, was recently published by Cambridge University Press.

1969

Lee F. Benton’s first child, Timothy, was born July 1, 1979.

Gary Lownenthal is a visiting professor of law at the University of Virginia School of Law this fall, on leave from Arizona State University College of Law.

James M. McGoldrick, Jr., was appointed Associate Dean of Pepperdine University School of Law in addition to his work as Professor of Law at that school.

Peter O. Mueller has had a big year—he married the former Susan Fuller Livingston, moved from Washington, D.C., to Seattle, and has a new job as Assistant United States Attorney for the Western District of Washington.

Bill Robinson writes from Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, that he finds time to golf and play basketball while pursuing his general practice.

John P. Wilkins practices investments as a partner of Standish, Ayr and Wood and claims, “As in our legal system, reason occasionally prevails in the capital markets.”

Milau D. Smith, Jr., of Smith and Hillbig, is President of the Informed Voters League of Torrance, California.

Michael Tichon and Joel M. Bernstein are partners in the firm of Memel, Jacobs, Pierno and Gersh in Los Angeles.

Henry J. Underwood, Jr., was admitted to partnership in Defrees and Fiske, Chicago, Illinois.

David M. Zwerdling, MD, is currently completing a fellowship in child psychiatry at Children’s Hospital National Medical Center and maintaining a private practice of psychiatry.

1970

Alan Farber was selected as one of the ten outstanding young men in the United States for 1979 by the JAYCEES.

Sam Libick was California State Bar backgammon champion last year; this year he backpacked the West Coast Trail.
Richard S. McMillin announced the formation of the firm of Koenick and McMillin this August. Peggy McQuade Hedden is temporarily retired from the practice of law to devote her time to her children, John Isaac (born January 25, 1979) and Kate.

1971

Robert N. Clinton, Professor of Law at the University of Iowa, has an article on the Eastern Indian land claims cases in the forthcoming edition of Maine Law Review.

Alan H. Kirshen, Associate Professor of Law at Creighton University, is also prop forward for the Omaha Rugby Club, which took third place at the University of Oklahoma tournament.

After serving as an attorney-fellow in the Office of General Counsel, SEC, and as Special Counsel to the Inspector General, GSA, Elliott M. Schnitzer has returned to private practice with Gardner, Carton and Douglas in Chicago.

After eight years in civil litigation, the resignation of the partner heading the Trusts and Estates department lead Paul Stokes of Smathers and Thompson to head that area in the firm.

1972

Gary D. Babbitt informs us that, with great powder skiing 30 minutes from his Boise, Idaho, doorstep, he still finds time to practice law.

Jim Hoffman, Associate Dean of Lewis and Clark Law School, presented a paper on government liability at the UNESCO earthquake prediction conference held in Paris in April, 1979.

J. Kenneth Mangum was elected Secretary to the board of directors of the Young Lawyers Section of the Maricopa County Arizona Bar Association.

Norman E. Lanford has been certified by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization as a specialist in criminal law. He noted his entire criminal law experience has been gained as a defense lawyer.

1973

Ronald A. Cass was appointed Assistant to the Dean, College of Arts and Sciences, University of Virginia. He continues in his position as Assistant Professor of Law.

Edna Selan Epstein, a member of Sidley and Austin, will be a visiting lecturer at the Law School and is also a member of Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne's Transition Task Force.

Albert A. Foer, Assistant Director for Special Projects, Bureau of Competition of the Federal Trade Commission, was elected to the Board of the National Capitol Area ACLU.

Jean M. Harumi is a member of the board of directors of the Illinois Institute for Continuing Legal Education.

Timothy John Mullen published a book, Firearm Training for Police Departments.

Thomas Sebarback of Kirkland and Ellis, reports, "new kid, new house, new dog, in that order."

Kathleen Umrein-Johnson, Assistant District Attorney in San Francisco, was appointed team leader of vice prosecution.

Gary H. Baker was made a partner of the firm of Conner, Winters, Ballaine, Barry and McGovern in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Geoffrey Handler has formed a general practice law firm in New York to be known as Nitkin, Alkalay, Handler and Robbins.

Thomas C. Walker has formed a law partnership, O'Halloran, La Varre and Demaret with its principal office in Northbrook, Illinois.

Dr. Stinson Stroup was named an assistant professor of education at Lehigh University.

1974

Margaret D. Avery is Codirector of Central Carolina Legal Services, Inc., in Greensboro.

A fringe benefit of Geoffrey G. Dellenbaugh's position with Johnson and Johnson is travel to Europe, as he is responsible for a European subsidiary.

Chris Duerksen accepted a position as senior associate with the Conservation Foundation, a Washington D.C. based environmental policy research and education organization.

Although Russell D. Jones has become a tax partner in the Kansas City law firm of Gage and Tuck, he claims he does not wear a different tie every day.

A son, Ari Rubin, was born May 21, 1979, to Jeffrey L. Madoff and his wife.

James B. McHugh recently completed a three-year assignment in Cleary, Gottlieb, Steen and Hamilton's London office and has returned to the New York office.

Harold F. Parker is Acting Director of Public Defender Service Corporation, Agana, Guam, and a member of the Guam Bar Board of Governors.

Donald A. Shapiro has established his own practice in Chicago.

Judson E. Tomlin, Jr., has forsaken Chicago for Birmingham, Alabama, where he will be associated with North, Haskell, Slaughter, Young and Lewis.
1975

Philip J. Hess is currently serving as an assistant to Mayor Koch of New York.

Larry S. Kaplan wrote the book, music, and lyrics for a musical entitled, “Clap Your Hands,” which was published and performed. He was also named Big Brother/Big Sister of Metropolitan Chicago Volunteer of the Year.

Christine M. Lazzie and Pat Bauer have moved to Iowa where Chris is an instructor in the University of Iowa College of Law legal aid clinic and Pat is an associate professor.

Gloria C. Phares, of Wald, Harkrader and Ross, is also an adjunct lecturer at the Washington College of Law, American University.

Robert Pondolfi is a partner in Johnson, Johnson and Pondolfi in Fort Meyers, Florida.

David Shipley, Assistant Professor at University of South Carolina School of Law, ran in the 1979 Boston Marathon and finished 820th with a time of two hours and 41 minutes.

Chuck Wolf writes that his son, Walter Ludwig Wolf, born February 18, 1979, is very cute.

1976

Julia Barash, practicing in California with Walleck, Shane, Pelletier and Standard, hopes to become a ranked California tennis player.

Leon M. Brofin has formed a law partnership in Denver, Colorado, to be known as Bronfin and Lachman. Dolores H. Dohm and her husband, Patrick, had a child, Nora Dohm Schuette, on May 17, 1979. Dolores continues her work at Arvey, Hodes, Costello and Burman.

Tom Fitzpatrick married Margaret Doyle and left Chicago for Seattle where he is associated with Karr, Tuttle, Koch, Campbell, Mawer and Morrow P.S.

Meg Gifford is spending a year in Donovan, Leisure, Newton and Irvine’s new Los Angeles office, far from Broadway and Central Park.

Elizabeth Claire Graham was born to H. Steven Graham and his wife, Debby, on July 20, 1979.

Mark E. Grammer is now with Cleary, Gottlieb, Steen and Hamilton in Washington, D.C.

Roger Huff was recently made a partner at Sachnoff, Schrager, Jones, Weaver and Rubenstein in Chicago.
Richard Lirtzman and Richard Nehls are expanding their Boulder, Colorado, firm by 50%—to three partners.

Phillip Recht reports the birth of a child, David, on August 6, 1978.

1977

Alan S. Kopit, working at Hahn, Loeser, Freedheim, Dean and Wellman in Cleveland, does a law-related segment on a local television talk show.

John Lanahan, a public defender in Chicago, has acted in a number of Chicago area productions.

J. Alexander Melenev has returned to Chicago from Philadelphia and is now working at Hopkins, Sutter, Mulroy, Davis and Cromartie.

Thomas Merrill completed his clerkship with Justice Blackmun and joined Sidley and Austin in Chicago.

Mary S. Nissenson is Chief Investigator of the fact-finder unit of WBBM-TV in Chicago and, among other awards, has won an Emmy for research on the Public Guardian series reported by WBBM.

Paul T. Tucker was appointed United States Magistrate for the Northern District of West Virginia.

1978

John J. Almond moved to Atlanta to work with Rogers and Hardin. His first child, a son, was born January 31, 1979.

Randall E. Cape received an MBA in June while working at Pacific Telephone in San Francisco.

Augustus I. DuPont married Jill Greenwood June 23, 1979, and is working at Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher and Flom in New York City.

Claire Pensyl is cochairing the Alumni Committee for Clinical Legal Education at the Law School with John Kimpel (J.D. '74).

Andrea R. Waintrook's article on equal employment opportunity law at the white collar and professional level was published in the Fall, 1979, issue of William and Mary Law Quarterly.

1979

Rusty Day's wife, Kristen, gave birth to their first child, Peter, three days before the California Bar Examination. Rusty exclaimed, "The exam paled in comparison."

Carol A. Johnston and Donald R. Gordon were married, and both are practicing law in Los Angeles.

David K. Linnan is at the Max Planck Institute in West Germany for a year as the recipient of the Max Rheinstein Fellowship of the Alexander von Humboldt-Stiftung.
Dear Graduates and Friends:

The Law School continues to flourish, as it has in the past, as part of one of the most distinguished universities in the world. Its preeminence in teaching and professional training, in research and clinical activities, has had a long tradition. You are part of this tradition. The many graduates and friends who have helped us have participated in an important endeavor. The School is fortunate that it has always been able to call on you to an extent which is unique.

The 1978 Fund Drive raised half a million dollars in unrestricted expendable funds. This is approximately the same amount as was donated in 1977. In addition, we received significant restricted contributions. This support encourages and enables the School to perform its many tasks. Nevertheless, I hope the 1979 Fund Drive will do better. Not only did the Fund not keep up with inflation, but we failed to come close to coping with extraordinary cost rises in such areas as library acquisitions. In addition, I am concerned about our long-term ability not only to maintain but to strengthen and increase what I think is the most productive law faculty in the country. We must also continue to attract one of the finest groups of students.

We are extremely grateful to all who have helped us to meet the challenge. This year, I urge you to increase your contribution. I believe that the Law School renders an important service to the legal profession. This tradition can be maintained only through greater participation of our graduates and friends.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Gerhard Casper
Dean
The Law School